Susceptibility surveys conducted in Europe between 2007 & 2014 suggest that in general pyrethroid resistant populations of pollen beetle have been on the increase at least until 2007/2008.